The Courage to Ascend[™]

From the Frontlines to the Himalayas

ABOUT ADRIANA

Adriana Aristizábal reported from the frontlines of Colombia's drug war as a war correspondent. After threats against her life, she rebuilt her future in the United States, going on to serve as Consul of Colombia in New York and to found iVoice Communications, the strategic communications agency she leads as Founder & CEO.

In June 2026, as a high-altitude mountaineer, she summited Lobuche Peak in the Everest region of the Himalayas, at roughly 20,075 feet. Today she brings these experiences to leaders, teams and students who need to perform, decide and grow when the path ahead is uncertain.
